

TER Chemicals Distribution Group
Slavery and human trafficking statement 2026
(relating to the financial year ending 2025)

Background

“Modern slavery” describes criminal forms of exploitation such as forced labour, servitude, and human trafficking, where individuals are coerced or controlled for economic benefit and are unable to refuse or leave, leading to severe violations of fundamental human rights.

The statement is given herewith.

Effective systems and measures with the aim of controlling and preventing slavery and human trafficking are also headed centrally by TER Chemicals GmbH & Co. KG in Hamburg.

Our policy on modern slavery

We understand the importance of putting business conduct at the heart of everything we do.

Our Code of Conduct and Ethics Guideline outlines our commitment to honesty, integrity, mutual respect, and an open and diverse work culture. The Code of Conduct is available to our partners and the public on our website.

Respectively, we have based our understanding of Corporate Social Responsibility on the grounds of Ethical and Business Principles as developed by the UN Global Compact and understandings of various trade associations in the context of chemical distribution.

Our activities

We are a member of the voluntary program "Responsible Care", which stands for an independent assessment as developed by the European Chemical Industry Council CEFIC according to the guidelines of the Responsible Care Program. As a member of the UN Global Compact, we signed a participation letter to the UN Global Compact as found on our website and among others report annually about our human rights and labor standards activities.

Moreover, we maintain a membership with the organization EcoVadis and thus are part of the CSR movement that is also defined under the term "Together for Sustainability". In this context we submit our CSR activities to a yearly self-audit and are rated with a score card issued by EcoVadis. In 2025 we were awarded platin medal by EcoVadis. The respective report by EcoVadis Sustainability Report is also published on our homepage.

Because of our internal and external audits, we understand that the risk of slavery and human trafficking with TER Chemicals and its supply chains is mitigated.

In addition, TER Chemicals management and staff have jointly developed corporate values that are the foundation of our goals and business activities. To ensure that these values are well known and respected by our staff they are explained on posters exhibited on the walls of our office premises. Our values are: Curiosity, responsibility, passion, reliability, recognition and criticism.

Furthermore, we build into the knowledge and skills of our staff. More precisely we provide training to our staff on the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking within our business and supply chains, as well as how to identify non-compliant practices.

We encourage our employees to tell us confidentially about any suspicions they may have that slavery or human trafficking is taking place within our business or supply chains. Therefore, we operate a whistleblowing policy and system so that all employees know that they can raise concerns about how colleagues are being treated, or practices within our business or supply chain, without fear of reprisals. This whistleblowing system is also publicly available to other stakeholders on our website.

We have in place questionnaires for the approval of new suppliers to our company group. Such questionnaire needs to be filled out and submitted by any supplier and is suited to identify and to assess potential risk areas for slavery and human trafficking in our supply chains. Moreover, updates on questionnaires are suited to monitor changed conditions and potentially arising new risks.

Corporate Statement

The statement above is issued and signed as valid for TER Chemicals Distribution Group. This statement complies with the requirements of section 54(1) Modern Slavery Act 2015 and is valid for the financial year ending 31 December 2025.
